Dear Helensvale Community
Learning Goals Review

As we reach the half way point of this term it is timely to remind families of the value of revisiting your child’s learning goals for this term. Learning goals which are well planned have been proven to maintain a sharp focus on learning improvement.

Respected educational researcher John Hattie (Hattie Visible Learning 2009) who analysed over 800 research based studies recognises that feedback and learning goals have an effect size of 0.75. Anything above 0.4 is optimal.

I urge all parents to take time over this weekend to review their child’s learning goals to refocus the next 5 weeks of learning.
This week I met with my supervisor to share my learning goals in the form of my Annual Performance Review, so along with our students I am currently addressing the next step in my learning journey.

Professional Development for key Staff

Today and Friday, members of the Leadership Team and our Curriculum leaders are attending a 2 day conference focused on Classroom Learning. Over the 2 days our teams will have the opportunity to engage first hand with the latest research on this important topic. Thank you to Glenda Earle HOSES, Mrs Irving 6A and Mrs Shaffer GO for managing the school over the 2 days the team is away.

Independent Public School Information

At the next P&C meeting on Wednesday 24th August a section of the meeting will be devoted to discussing the proposal for our school to make an application to become an IPS school in 2017. The key criteria for approval is a high level of consultation with the school community. At the meeting it is planned to have a Principal from an IPS school speak about how IPS has assisted their school and to answer questions which parents may have regarding IPS.

New Behaviour System Update

This week has seen the final classes implement the new behaviour system into their classrooms. Specialist teachers are also using the system in their lessons. This is the final implementation phase of the system into the school.

This week, I wanted to give an overview of the Academic and Social Behaviours backed by International Research and best practise that are proven to assist students have success with their learning. RTI is a Verb (Hierck & Weber, 2014) provides a comprehensive overview of the following research that underpins Response To Intervention (RTI) linked to academic and student behaviour including:

- Ron Edmonds (1979) and Larry Lezotte (1991) and the Effective Schools Movement
- Benjamin Bloom (1968, 1984) and Tom Guskey (2007) and Mastery Learning
- Grant Wiggins and Jay McTighe (2005) and Understanding by Design (UbD)

Academic Behaviours

- Metacognition
- Positive Self-Control
- Self-Monitoring
- Motivation
- Strategy & Problem Solving Skills
- Perseverance
- Resilience

Social Behaviours

- Cooperation
- Social, Physical & Verbal
- Respect
- Attention & Engagement
- Self-Control
- Recognising Emotions
- Empathy
- Attendance

Academic behaviour is the term that we use for a cognitive skill that is integral to success in school and life. Whether known as self-regulatory strategies or executive functioning skills, these concepts are part of 21st century skills and postsecondary and career readiness expectations. Academic behaviours guide how students meet expectations for student success, whereas academic content standards describe what to master.

Social behaviours are critical in their own right. For students to be productive 21st century citizens, social behaviours are key. Social behaviours are also critical because of their interconnectedness with academics. Students with challenges in the social-behaviour domain will have difficulties learning academic skills, both because their behaviours distract them from fully participating in classroom experiences.

For the remainder of the year, the school will now be shifting their ‘Behaviour Focuses of the Week’ to reflect one of the Academic and Social Behaviours listed above.

Sector Assemblies

Just a reminder that next week we will be holding our sector assemblies.

Tuesday August 16 - Year 2 -3
Wednesday August 17 - Year 4, 5 and 6
Thursday August 18 - Prep & Year 1
From Ms Ona's Desk

Wendy Chambers, HOD Junior Secondary Transitions from Helensvale High School visited our school on Wednesday to talk to the year 6 students about the “High School Experience Day”, which is on Friday 2 September for all students enrolled at Helensvale High for next year. This year they require parents to complete and return a permission note and medical form for the day.

News from 4A

This week 4A has been learning all about writing and presenting engaging speeches. We have learnt about the importance of choosing topics that we are passionate about and that the audience will be interested in as well. For our individual speeches we were able to choose from the following topics: Somewhere over the Rainbow, If Animals Could Talk, Hidden Treasures, Imagine…., Disasters, Purple Dinosaur and A Picture Tells a Thousand Words.

When it came to practising our public speaking, we were very fortunate to have an impromptu performance by our experienced special guest, Mr Shambrook AKA our principal. His entertaining performance had the whole class in stitches when he demonstrated eye contact, pace and voice control using his multiple personalities and unique speech topics. After Mr Shambrook’s visit, we were all motivated to present 2-minute speeches to our classmates that met our purpose of being entertaining, persuasive or informative.

After we have finished presenting our speeches to our class, 2 outstanding students from every Year 4-6 class will be chosen to compete at the Helensvale State School Individual Year Level Public Speaking Competitions, which will be held in the Performing Arts Centre (PAC) later this term.

What is a speech pathologist?
Speech pathologists study, diagnose and treat communication disorders, including difficulties with speech, language, reading and writing, swallowing and voice.
They work with people who have communication and swallowing difficulties that:
• arise from premature birth, or may be present from birth (e.g. cerebral palsy, Down Syndrome, fragile X syndrome, Autism Spectrum Disorder, hearing impairments and cleft palate), or
• occur as a result of physical, intellectual or sensory disability or a mental illness; or
• emerge during early childhood (e.g. speech and language disorders, stuttering, difficulties learning to read and write); or
• occur during adult years (e.g. traumatic brain injury, stroke, head/neck cancer, neurological disorders such as motor neuron disease), or
• develop in the elderly (e.g. dementia, Alzheimer’s disease, Parkinson’s disease).
People who experience difficulties swallowing food and drinking safely can also be helped by a speech pathologist.

Where do speech pathologists work?
Speech pathologists work in a variety of settings, including public and private hospitals, early intervention and child care and education settings; community health and rehabilitation centres; corporate organisations; correctional and juvenile justice facilities; disability services; universities; mental health services; residential accommodation; private homes; private speech pathology clinics and aged care facilities.
